FIGHTING STILL IN PROGRESS

THIRD DAY OF THE ENGAGEMENT

Battle Below Mukden Between Russians and Japanese Continues to Rage—Check Sustained by Kuropatkin.

Tokio, Oct. 13, 9:30 a. m.—Field Marshal Oyama, telegraphing from the field yesterday, says operations are progressing favorably.

Mukden, Oct. 11.—A battle commenced this morning along the line of railway with terrific artillery fire on both sides. The railway line almost to Yantai is in the possession of Russians. The station was damaged nearly beyond recognition. The weather is beautiful.

Fighting Monday commenced early. A bombardment of five hours' duration forced back the Japanese lines along almost the entire line and opened the way for an infantry attack. About noon the Japanese began to retire. Their flanks and center were stubbornly defended. The battle increased in intensity, concentrating about the Yantai coal mines.

As the result of the day's events the Russians drove in the Japanese left, while the right clung to its position, but maintained itself only with difficulty. Retirement of the Japanese was so hurried they abandoned their field telegraph and telephone lines. The Russian soldiers are in the best of spirits and advance to battle singing.

WITH JAPANESE

Field Headquarters' Second Japanese Army, Oct. 10.—This morning the infantry advanced two or three miles, artillery following. The Russians opened an artillery gun duel, which continued all day.

Tokio, Oct. 12.—A general Japanese advance along the broad front of the town of Mukden is progressing. A brigade of Russian infantry with 2,000 cavalry and two guns, having the object of striking Kuropatkin's flank, crossed the Taisho river Oct. 9. The Japanese cut off this force and possibly will capture it. Russians are attacking Chin Chung, thirty miles north-east of Salimtsu, evidently with the object of cutting off Japanese communications with the Yalu river.

Tokio, Oct. 12.—A batch of reports covering fighting of Oct. 10 published this evening records serious conflicts at various points along the Japanese front. There was a desperate struggle in the neighborhood of Bensiup, where the Russians crossed the Taisho river and where the Japanese endeavored to enslave the invaders. The Hsinchunang campaign, vigorously attacked and repulsed the Russians, possibly relieving pressure of the Japanese line of communications. Headquarters of the Manchurian army, in reporting conditions on the night of Oct. 10, telegraphs as follows:

"The enemy with a body of considerable infantry of considerable strength is holding an eminence west of Sanchiatou. A powerful column of the enemy is advancing. It is in Yehokou valley near Sanchiatou. A regiment of Russians is fortifying ridges. Another body of Russians with artillery has been seen advancing toward the upper end of lower Lihotou. A line of eminences east of the Bensiup was taken by the enemy, as were ridges east of the roadway between Huoliuchia and Bensiup by night attack. Next morning, under cover of a mist, our forces succeeded in retaking the line of eminences east of Bensiup and another line of ridges between Huoliuchia and Bensiup. At morning the next day the enemy's cavalry attempted to attack one eminence east of Huoliuchia, but were driven back after a hand to hand fight. The enemy left a number of killed and retreated to the base of the eminence. The center army reports:

"Our right has taken possession of a line of heights east of Yantai. Our left reached the ridges east of Huang and attacked the enemy at Wiliang but was unable to dislodge him on to Sanchiatou. The left army reports:

"Our right column is occupying Kuoliang and vicinity and is co-operating with the left and center. The army attacked the enemy's combined forces occupying the heights of Wiliang. We took possession of a line extending from Sanchiatou to Bensiup. Our center column reached the line from Sanchiatou, forcing the enemy to retreat and dislodge the enemy from his position at Bensiup, which he had been holding since the day before. Our left after attacking the enemy holding Huoliuchia continued to advance to Huoliuchia. The garrison at Hsinchunang made a night attack and drove the enemy east and north."

FROM ST. PETERSBURG.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 12.—The battle below Mukden continues to rage along the entire front. According to Kuropatkin's latest advices, after fighting of the day had ended the Japanese were stubbornly holding their own, offering desperate resistance, and had even advanced their positions. After all day fighting above Yantai, where the Russians sustained their first check, the Japanese still held that position. The infantry practically were not engaged, artillery bearing the brunt of the fighting. The Japanese stuck to their guns and Russian batteries were unable to dislodge them. According to advices received by the war office here, the Japanese hold entrenched lines extending in a semi-circle north of Yantai railroad station, erroneously reported to have been captured by Russians. Thence they have a series of areas covering the Yantai branch of the railroad, including the mines, whence their lines sweep southward toward the Taisho river, thus enclosing the mountainous region and forming a triangle of their main positions.

Sakharoff, telegraphing yesterday evening, confirms reports of desperate fighting north of Yantai, where the heights were alternately held by Russians and Japanese. General Danileoff, in command of the sixth Siberian rifle division, was wounded in the leg, but did not relinquish command. Losses not stated. According to the latest advices, the battle is continuing to day.

NO OFFICIAL NEWS.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 12.—No official news of the result of today's battle south of Mukden is available at this hour. Kuropatkin doubtless has communicated his regular report to the emperor, but the dispatch was not sent back to the general staff to night. So the latest word from Russian sources is contained in the Associated Press dispatch from Mukden.

The frontal attack on the Yantai mines developed a desperate battle, in which possibly 100,000 men are engaged, but though the dispatches so far deal almost exclusively with this feature of the battle it is pointed out there is a much wider field involved. The fight on the Russian left flank has not yet developed and possibly here Kuropatkin intends to deliver his main blow. Appearance to night of a Russian column at Tzyan Chan, thirty miles southeast of Mukden, striking at Oyama's column north of the Yalu, and knowledge that another column is already across the Taisho river gives evidence of the wide nature of the turning movement. It is possible the attack on the Yantai mines may simply be intended to hold the main Japanese force stationary and the outcome of the Yantai fight may have little bearing on the result of the general engagement. While it is now asserted Kuropatkin enjoys considerable numerical superiority, the main fear expressed is that this superiority is insufficient to enable him to carry out the big operations he has undertaken. Apprehension is caused by the Tokyo dispatch saying Oyama reports he is gaining ground and has cut off a Russian column below the Taisho river.

It is only natural, after repeated reverses already suffered, that Russians fully realize how much Kuropatkin has staked upon the assumption of the offensive. The battle now in progress undoubtedly will outweigh in importance the hard fight at Liao Yang. For Kuropatkin victory, partial or complete, is absolutely necessary. Defeat would certainly spell ruin for his military reputation and possibly prove a disaster of the first magnitude to the Russian army. If the Japanese should roll up Kuropatkin's advance now all hope of aggressive Russian success in this campaign or of relief of Port Arthur would be ended possibly for this year.

RUSSIANS APPREHENSIVE.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 12.—It is now mid-night on the battlefield below Mukden and failure to receive news that the Russians achieved decisive results in today's fight north of Yantai, coupled with the Tokyo report that Oyama is gaining ground, caused increased apprehension.

MADE THREATS

Witness in St. Pierre Murder Trial Tells What Prisoner Had Told Him.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 12.—Strating testimony was introduced to day during the trial of John St. Pierre at Elk Point, S. D., for the alleged murder of Albert and Clarence Chalke, just across the river from Sioux City, last May. The defense has claimed St. Pierre shot in self defense when the three Chalke boys came into his house at 8:30 p. m. Floyd Crawford testified that he asked, with St. Pierre and that St. Pierre last winter made threats against the Chalke boys, at one time declaring he would go home some night, pretend to be drunk and when the boys came to his house shoot them and give himself up. This tallies with what did occur at the time.

INJURED BY FALL

George Eades, Jr., son of George Eades of South West street, was severely injured Wednesday morning at about 11:20 o'clock in an attempt to ride up the inclined platform upon which the man who "kissed the girl" lands after his jump. The boy rode to the top of the incline, intending to turn around and ride back, but misjudged the distance and was precipitated headlong to the pavement. He fell on his face, cutting his severely and knocking out several teeth. Cherry's ambulance was summoned, but the boy was able to walk home, where medical attention was given his injuries.

MINNESOTA BANK ROBBERED.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Oct. 12.—Robbers entered the Bond bank at Viking last night and robbed it of $800.

TOUR OF IOWA CONCLUDED

DAY OF SPEECH MAKING BY SENATOR FAIRBANKS

Vice Presidential Candidate Spoke at Ten Towns During Day and Concludes With Night Meeting at Davenport.

Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 12.—With a speech at Turner opera house, Davenport, to night Senator Fairbanks concluded his tour of Iowa. He came to Davenport this afternoon and after crossing the river and speaking at Rock Island, Ill., returned to this city for the night meeting.

In addition to these two points he spoke during the day at Des Moines, Colfax, Newton, Kellogg, Grinnell, Brooklyn, Mariago, Iowa City, West Liberty and Durant, all in Iowa. The crowd here to night was large, but the meetings of the day were not upon the whole as well attended as were those of yesterday. Most of the day's stops were of only brief duration. The longest day stop was made at Iowa City, where the meeting was attended by a club of students calling themselves "Teddy's Hawks." To them, as students at Grinnell, Fairbanks addressed himself especially, telling them that "the Republican party stands for principles as fixed and enduring as the stars."

A large part of the day was spent in the second congressional district, where the Democratic ticket in the state, and Fairbanks was accompanied by A. F. Dawson, Republican candidate for congress. At both Davenport and Brooklyn Fairbanks discussed imperialism. At Brooklyn he said:

"Our Democratic friends have suggested from time to time that there is some danger of imperialism. They have got it into their heads that the Republican party is inimical to the republic; that the Republican party in some way or other is going to subvert our republican institutions and build upon their ruins imperialism. Did you ever hear of a more preposterous suggestion? The Republican party has been the loyal, intelligent supporter of republican institutions from the time Abraham Lincoln took the oath of office in the national capital down to this beautiful morning. It has been the steadfast defender of those policies which are for upbuilding of our nation's strength and expansion of our glory everywhere."

Out of what does this charge of imperialism grow? Out of our adoption of the Philippine Islands? They do not pretend to observe evidence of any imperialistic purpose here in the United States. We have built up prosperity as never before. Laws have been enforced impartially and effectively. But away off in the Philippines, thousands of miles beyond the western coast, they say we are governing in an imperialistic way."

The speaker then proceeded to discuss the Philippine situation, arguing that there has never been nor is there now any intention of doing anything but our national duty there, and that we owe to civilization. Continuing, he said:

"The Republican party has improved the administration in the Philippines. It has sent there thousands of school teachers from the United States. It has erected school houses in the archipelago. There has been some debate as to whether the constitution follows the flag. There is some difference of view about that, but upon one proposition Republicans and Democrats will all agree, and that is that the American school house follows the American flag."

The speech at Rock Island was devoted to a defense of the currency and tariff policies of the Republican party, and the speech here to night was along the same lines.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

Plano, Tex., Oct. 12.—A triple tragedy occurred about three and a half miles east of Plano this afternoon. XVII Cochran, a blind man, separated from his wife six weeks, led by his nephew 15 years old, went to his mother-in-law's and called for his wife. When she sat down by him he grabbed her, stabbing her to death with a dirk, and then killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. James Shelton, 72 years old. He then shot and killed himself. The women were literally cut to pieces.

BOAT'S SWEET AWAY.

New York, Oct. 12.—While a heavy storm which broke during the night was at its height, three coal laden boats, each with a family on board, rode loose from moorings in the East river and went down through Hell Gate. All trace of them is lost.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Aurora, Oct. 12.—The state Federation of Labor to day adopted resolutions calling upon the interstate commerce commission to take action to prevent carrying prison-made goods from one state to another in competition with "free" labor.

ASKS FOR ACCOUNTING

Member of Kingman & Co. Implements Dealers, Asks for Relief.

Peoria, Oct. 12.—A session was created here to day when Charles A. Jamison of the firm of Kingman & Co., one of the largest implement houses in the United States, filed a bill asking for relief and accounting.

The net value of Jamison's holdings in the various Kingman companies is given as exceeding $500,000. He charges that since he was summarily forced out of the company profits have been swallowed up in salaries and charged up to fictitious losses and no dividends have been declared.

Kansas City, Oct. 12.—Local Manager Copping of the Kingman Implement company says Jamison severed connection with the firm five years ago, is only a small stockholder and that to day's action will not affect any of the firm's houses.

LEXINGTON RACES

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 12.—The two stake races on the card to day, the unfinished 2:30 trotting of yesterday, and two purse races attracted an unusually large crowd to the track. The West $2,000 stake for 2:29 trotters was won in straight heats by John Caldwell.

The Lexington stake, worth $2,000, for 2-year-olds went to Jack Axworthy in straight heats. Don Voyager, favorite in the race, was formally transferred to W. A. Clark, Jr., of Butler, Mont. Just before the race was called, Charles Marvin sold Don Voyager to Clark. He won the Purdy for $10,000. He apparently had each ear cut until the very finish. The other two events were won in straight heats. Stables:

According to the general offices here, no one was injured. One train struck the other from the side at a switch while running at a low rate of speed.

AT PORT ARTHUR.

Chefoo, Oct. 12.—Japanese who arrived here to day from Port Dalrymple report shells of heavy guns now dropping into the harbor of Port Arthur. One shell recently damaged the Russian battleship Reizovian. The repulse from High hill, the Japs say, was the only reverse which the Japanese before Port Arthur have suffered. Japanese consider the progress they have made is satisfactory and believe capture of the fortress, although slow, is certain to be accomplished.

STEAM FITTER KILLED.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Chris Larsen, a steam fitter, was killed and Frederick Diamond, engineer, and James Wood, fireman, fatally injured to night by bursting of a steam pipe in the Hampton apartment building, thirty-ninth street and Tangleway avenue. WISCONSIN STALWART REPUBLICANS SO DECIDE Leaders Meet in Milwaukee and Discuss the Question—Bryan Speaking in Indiana—Other Political News.

Milwaukee, Oct. 12.—The National Republican (stalwart) state ticket, headed by former Governor Edward Scofield, will remain in the field. This was decided after a protracted meeting of the leading stalwarts from every part of the state to day, when the question of withdrawing the ticket came up for discussion. Besides a number from Milwaukee, among those who attended the conference were Senator Spooner, Madison; ex-Governors Scofield and Upham; Marshall Cousins and C. H. Henry, Eau Claire; Solon Perrin, Superior; W. H. Ellis, Manitowish; Theodore Goldin, Janesville; Frank H. Bentley, Baraboo; A. M. Jones, Wausau; Graham Rice, Madison; E. D. Che, Whitewater; John Hicks, Oshkosh; A. L. Kreutzer, Wausau; George H. Ray, LaCrosse; Nels Holman, DeForest; F. G. Russell, Lad; Arthur Jones, Wausau.

Senator Spooner was one of the first speakers and it is understood was in favor of withdrawing the ticket in the interest of the national and congressional ticket. Spooner left the meeting shortly after he had spoken on the subject. He took this step, he said, in order not to embarrass others whose views might be different from his. The conference lasted several hours. Before the meeting adjourned a resolution was adopted unanimously in favor of the ticket being kept in the field. The resolution reads as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the judgment of this meeting, most emphatically expressed, that the present Republican ticket headed by Edward Scofield be kept in the field and we pledge to this ticket our enthusiastic support; that the state central committee be heartily commended for work already accomplished, and that the campaign be vigorously pushed from now until the day of election."

EX-GOVERNOR SCHOFIELD, STALWART CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

Most of them will be made from the rear of his private car.

DAVIS' CAMPAIGN.

Fairmont, Md., Oct. 12.—The second day of Davis' campaign through Maryland and West Virginia has been more intense and satisfactory than the first. Davis repeated his record of yesterday, with a dozen speeches and added some more for good measure. Despite the rain which fell during the first half of the day, there was no dampening of enthusiasm nor diminishing of crowds which greeted the candidate. An indication of the earnest side of the campaign was the attendance of miners, begrimed with their work, which they had left temporarily to listen to the speaker.

He pledged loyalty of the Democratic party in Illinois. MODERN BROTHERHOOD.

Minneapolis, Oct. 12.—The national convention of the Modern Brotherhood of America began to day. About four hundred persons were present. T. B. Hanley, of Clinton, Iowa, the man who in April, 1897, organized the society and has ever since been its president, presided. CANAL COMMISSION Members Now in Washington Present Results of Its Work to President.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Members of the Panama canal commission now in the city called to day by appointment on President Roosevelt. A short time afterward John Barrett, American minister to Panama, had a conference with the president. The commission presented in an informal way the net results of its work since its organization.

The commission left with the president a memorandum giving him in considerable detail the work accomplished and in hand on the isthmus. It shows there are now between two and three hundred engineers and others sent from the United States engaged in engineering and construction work and upon sewerage and water supply with a force of 1,000 to 1,200 laborers. Work being done by surveyors include improvements in and about Colon harbor, estimates of various dams and plans to determine the feasibility of straightening the French company's line in the vicinity of Culabra, constructing water works and reservoirs to supply the city of Panama and a sewerage system for Colon. When the commission took charge the French were removing 25,000 cubic yards per month. In August the commission removed about 35,000 yards, though in September because of unfavorable conditions there was a smaller amount of work. In July the unit cost of excavating material was cut to 60¢ cents per cubic yard, in August to 50¢ cents. According to French methods, the excavation cost was 70 cents.

From the total amount of losses is to be deducted $88,590, the proceeds of sales at auctions of damaged and deteriorated stores, etc.

MILLIONS INVOLVED

Favorweather Will Case up in the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The United States supreme court to day heard arguments in what is known as the Favorweather will case, involving several million dollars worth of property left by Daniel B. Favorweather, a New York leather merchant, who died in that city in 1890, leaving an estate valued at upward of $5,000,000. The present litigation is over ownership of part of the residuary estate, together with fourteen years' interest. Favorweather left three heirs-at-law and next of kin, namely, Mary W. Achter, Emma S. Several Commission Men Tell of Arbitrary Practice of the Company—Fast Ruling Their Business.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Alleged extortionate charges and arbitrary practice of Armour cars were again the subject of examination by the interstate commerce commission and the commission finally adjourned pending a special call with the investigation suspended. Charges of gross oppression were made by several commission men of Chicago and other points who have had to depend on the Armour car system for the transportation of their product.

George F. Mead, of George Mead & Co., fruit dealers, and vice president of the National Association of Commission Men, Boston, stated the tactics of the Armour company are fast ruining the commission business all over the east.

A. L. Somers, a South Water street commission merchant, testified that the Armour company charges are far in excess of the actual cost for letting cars and cited several instances where he had been charged $15 for letting a car for a trip of 200 miles or less, comparing the rate with one of 50¢ made by the Santa Fe railroad for 700 miles.

The house, sitting as a committee of the whole, discussed the issue all day and many vehement addresses were made by both sides. Several prominent delegates expressed the opinion to night that in view of the difference of opinion the present convention will not net on the matter, but would like its predecessor, refer the problem to the next triennial conference.

RAN FIRST TRAIN.

Referring to the recent article regarding the venerable James McBride and the work he did on the railroad, Joel Baker told a Journal reporter Wednesday that he, Mr. Baker, ran the first engine which passed over the track. Elderly citizens will remember the old Tonica & Petersburg railroad, which formed a part of the line. The writer was an employee in the lumber yard of J. S. & G. S. Russell, working his way through college, when Mr. Baker used to show up each morning. Mixed went down at night and back in the morning, and sometimes the old-fashioned engine would get down on the Wabash tracks doing switching, and occasionally get in the way of the regular passenger trains, and then there would be a war of words which never ended seriously.

HAS MADE SUCCESS.

Byron W. Orr, who is well known to many in this vicinity, was recently elected secretary of the St. Louis Ad-Mem's league. The honor comes as a well deserved recognition of the record of Mr. Orr in the advertising world, especially in his present position as advertising manager for the Ely-Walker Dry Goods company, of St. Louis. Mr. Orr was born and reared in Carrollton and was at one time an employee of the Journal of this city. For a number of years he was an advance man for several good operators, and later went into the advertising business, in which he has made a marked success.

FINE CATTLE.

Messrs. W. R. Dunlap & Co. shipped three loads of their fine cattle to Chicago recently and are pardonably proud of the result. The animals were Polled Angus bought last spring of Frank Huffaker, at $4.25. They were at once put on grass and corn and when shipped topped the market for the year. The best any load had brought so far was $6.00, but one load of these sold for $6.85 and two at $6.55. The proprietors had plenty of hogs following, so that nothing was lost and the result was quite satisfactory. Only corn and grass were fed the steers, but they had plenty all the time and clear water to drink and good care. This result will make such well known feeders as Joseph Williams, of Joy Prairie; the Hemphreys, Swains, N. D. Graves, J. O. O'Neal, John Cleary and many others who might be mentioned, look well to their laurels. Morgan county has a number of gentlemen who can hardly be beaten as stock feeders, as the reports of the Chicago markets will show.

PHILOMATHIAN SOCIETY.

The Philomathian society of Illinois college met Wednesday afternoon in their hall. Misses Eva Cochran, Ruth Bailey, Gladys Cochran and Edith Adams were taken into the society as active members. The following program was given:

Violin solo—Miss Clara Catherine Moore.

Reading, by Charles Lamb—Miss Lucinda Rathbone.

Debate—Resolved, That a Western Girl Should Go East to College. Affirmative: Leader, Antoinette M. Pires; responsive, Eva Neelsch. Negative: Leader, Clara C. Moore; responsive, Charlotte C. Hayden. Ability went to the negative and merits to the affirmative.

PARSONAGE IMPROVEMENTS.

The Ladies' Aid society of Centenary church is engaged in the pleasant task of improving the parsonage and fitting it for occupancy by the new pastor, Rev. W. H. Wilder. Among the improvements will be new carpets, wall paper and interior decorations, and the whole building will be completely overhauled. The building is being raised for the installation of a furnace, and a bath room, fully equipped, will also be put in.

It is indeed a worthy enterprise in which the ladies are engaged and one which will doubtless be much appreciated. It is expected that the work will be completed within a short time.

TWO FIRE ALARMS.

Two alarms of fire at the same time Wednesday morning, caused considerable excitement in the vicinity of the square for a time. The first was from Farrell's bank building, and was a request for the chemical engine to extinguish a small blaze in the basement occupied by Thomas' barber shop, and as the chemical was being prepared another alarm came in from Chapp's mill. The engine was sent to this point, where a blaze on the roof of a building owned by Mr. Day had started from a gasoline heater used in preparing paint, and had already been extinguished. The engine started then for the bank to aid the chemical, should their services be required, and at the same time the chemical left the bank and started for the other fire, going by another route. This led to the impression that the department was lost, which was not the case. The fire in the barber shop originated in a closet, and did no damage aside from scorching the wood work and burning some clothing.

Chairman Speakers' Com.

Judge Parker is said to be anxious to secure the favor of the Bryan Democrats. He might send them a silver telegram.

Colonel Bryan declares that he loves peace. He can not expect, however, to find it in the Democratic party.

The first voter should contrast existing conditions with those of the four years that came between the Harrison and McKinley administrations.

From the manner in which he has succeeded in dodging every issue offered by the Republicans, Judge Parker is entitled to be known as the Kuropatkin of American politics.

There are times in the career of every president when he cannot possibly borrow another person's backbone, and in view of that, it is just as well that he should form the habit of using his own.

Tom Taggart has figured out a clear majority in the electoral college for Judge Parker. It will be remembered that the Democrats elected Mr.
Bryan four years ago this month.

Parker Constitution clubs would stand better in the public estimation if the Parker politicians did not lend one to suspect that the "Constitution does not amount to much between friends."

Between the slough of despond and the kind of mud Gorman leads his party into, there seems to be very little to choose, but Judge Parker would do himself credit by choosing the former.

Western Democrats have no objection to the eastern Democrats electing Judge Parker, if they can do it, as they nominated him by a trick which left western Democrats out of the calculation.

John Sharp Williams once said that were he nominated for president it would immediately be said that his platform was the amended constitution of the state of Mississippi.
And he knows that platform would have trap doors in it.

REPUBLICAN QUOTATIONS.

"We do not have to avoid a definite and conclusive commitment on the most important issue which has recently been before the people, and which may at any time in the near future be before them again."—President Roosevelt's speech accepting the 1904 nomination.

"We have prospered marvelously at home. As a nation we stand in the very forefront in the giant international competition of the day. We can not afford by any freak of folly to forfeit the position to which we have thus triumphantly attained."
President Roosevelt, at Minneapolis,
April 4, 1903.

"The upshot of all this is that it is peculiarly incumbent upon us, in a time of such material well-being, both collectively as a nation and individually as citizens, to show each on his own account, that we possess the qualities of prudence, self-knowledge and self-restraint. In our government we need above all things stability, fixity of economic policy."—President Roosevelt, at Providence, R. I., Aug.
23, 1902.

"Judging by the history of the last twenty years, down to this very month, there is justification for believing that under similar circumstances and with similar initial differences of opinion, our opponents would have achieved any practical result."—President Roosevelt, in his speech accepting the 1904 nomination.

"If a tariff law on the whole worked well, and if business has prospered under it and is prospering, it may be better to endure some inconveniences and inequalities for a time than, by making changes, to risk causing disturbance and perhaps paralysis in the industries and business of the country."—President Roosevelt, at Minneapolis, April 4, 1903.

"Changes in tariff schedules can with safety be made only by those whose devotion to the principles of protection is beyond question."— From President Roosevelt's speech of acceptance.

"Our policy is one of fair and equal justice to all men, paying no heed to whether he is rich or poor nor heeding his race, his creed or his birthplace."—From President Roosevelt's speech of acceptance.

"American wage-workers work with their heads as well as their hands.
Moreover, they take a keen pride in what they are doing; so that, independent of the reward, they wish to turn out a perfect job. This is the great secret of our success in competition with the labor of foreign countries."—President Roosevelt, in message to congress, Dec. 3, 1901.

"The poorest motto upon which an American can act is the motto of "Some Men Down" and the safest to during this campaign. Prominent and able speakers will be here to address both afternoon and evening meetings, which will be held in Central park. Hon. William E. Mason and Col. Frank C. Lowden are scheduled to be here on that date, and three other noted orators, Congressman Joseph V. Graft, Judge G.
W. Thompson, and Congressman Charles H. Fuller, will be here to discuss the issues of the day.

Reduced rates will be made on all the railroads and large delegations will be brought in from all over the country.

Speaking will be held in Central park at 3 p. m. and at 8 p. m. Preceding the evening meeting there will be a monster parade, starting at 7 o'clock, traversing the principal streets and ending with a brilliant display of fireworks. Jeffries' Concert band, the Light Regiment band, the Denker drum and bugle corps and other drum corps and marching clubs will be in line.

How Elephants Gather Fruit.
The elephant does not bother to pick fruit singly off a tree, but will butt
the trunk with such force that all the ripe fruit is shaken off. He then picks it off the ground with his trunk and pops it into his mouth. His favorite species is the wild plum, though he will eat many other fruits.

GOLF NOTES.

All the scores for the qualifying round in the men's tournament were handed in last night and a committee of the players have paired those who were eligible by lot.

In the championship fight those who qualified and the pairings are as follows:

Ledford vs. Sanders.
Searlock vs. Hayden.
Einsmore vs. Luttrell.
Dean vs. Hockenbuhl.

In the second night the pairings
were as follows:

Danskin vs. Lott.
A. T. Capps vs. Bellatti.
Lloyd Smith, Sr. vs. Roswell Post.
R. O. Post vs. Lloyd Smith, Jr.

It is the wish of the greens committee that the matches in these two nights be played off as rapidly as possible. There are four trophies to be awarded in the two contests and great interest is being manifested in the outcome.

In the ladies' semi-finals yesterday,
Miss Carter developed unusual strength and was only defeated by Miss K. Robertson by 2 up and 1 to play, after a stubborn contest. The ladies' consolation cup was won by Mrs. G. H. Searlock.

The Springfield Golf club has invited the gentlemen of the Jacksonville Country club to an "Old Boys" match game on the Springfield links next week. No one under 30 years of age will be allowed to play. It is expected that a team of twelve will go from here. The ladies are invited to accompany the team and a number will probably accept the invitation.

How Elephants Gather Fruit.
The elephant does not bother to pick
fruit singly off a tree, but will butt
the trunk with such force that all the ripe fruit is shaken off. He then picks
it off the ground with his trunk and pops it into his mouth. His favorite species is the wild plum, though he
will eat many other fruits.

A Boy Dead Shot.
Horace Franklin Lehart of New

MISS NUNES IS QUEEN

Contest Decided Amid Greatest Excitement Wednesday Evening.

Miss Mamie Nunes is queen. This interesting feature of the Eagles' Fall Festival was decided Wednesday evening at 11 o'clock.

For four hours an anxious and expectant crowd stood before the bulletin board on West State street and eagerly scanned the returns as they were posted. The balloting was fast and furious from the start and it was plainly evident that the crisis was on. Friends of the different candidates for the honor were present in force and fifteen thousand votes were cast during the four hours of the evening.

As the vote grew larger and larger, small groups could be detected here and there discussing the situation, and finally one of the number would emerge and the vote would take another leap.

The open ballot closed after 10 o'clock, but the voting was continued another hour before the contest was finally declared closed.

The balloting took place in front of the grocery store of James Groves on West State street, and the contest was conducted from one of the Mundy show wagons.

Promptly at eleven o'clock the balloting was closed and the following persons were invited to come up on the wagon and count the ballots: Gus Graubner, John Vasconcellos, George Hamilton, Robert Osborne and Howard Phelps.

When the canvass was completed the result was found to be as follows:

Miss Mamie Nunes	19,326
Miss Hulda Hardin	19,319
Miss Julia O'Brien	12,877
Miss Ethel Sperry	2,123
Miss Mae Hickman	501
Miss Maggie Coffman	449
Miss Edith Vasconcellos	322

The contest has attracted more general interest than any event of a similar character that has taken place in this city for many years and the winner may indeed feel highly honored over the compliment paid her by loyal friends.

Miss Nunes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Nunes, of East Independence avenue, and is a young lady of many personal charms and will no doubt preside with becoming dignity at the exercises attending her coronation. It is not necessary to speak of her popularity, as that was too well attested by the result of the contest last evening to need comment.

The other candidates for queenly favor are also to be congratulated, as the high vote they received was of a most flattering and complimentary character.

The total number of votes cast was 59,634, and the number receiving votes during the contest, 63.

DEATH RECORD. RICHARDSON. Enis Richardson passed away at his home near Pleasant Plains Wednesday afternoon about 1 o'clock. He was 81 years of age and is survived by five children.

NOTICE, COUNCIL 269, M. P. L. All members of No. 269, M. P. L., and all other members of the order are requested to meet at the hall at 7:30 this evening to participate in the Eagles' parade.

FEDERATION OF CLUBS

Sessions Are Being Held at Mt. Emory and Bethel Churches—Large Number of Delegates Present.

The fifth annual meeting of the State Federation of Colored Women's clubs, which is meeting in this city, held three interesting sessions Wednesday. Interest in the meeting is great, and new delegates are arriving daily to participate in the business meeting to day. The principal cities of the state are already represented and more are expected to day.

Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock the session was called to order in Mt. Emory Baptist church by Mrs. Fannie Hall Clint, of Chicago, state president. Mrs. A. J. At the conclusion of the session the members of the local clubs, delegates and guests of honor were conveyed to Jacksonville cemetery, where a devotional hour was held, and the monument erected to the memory of Mrs. M. J. Jackson was unveiled.

At the evening session at the Mt. Emory Baptist church a good audience heard a program of unusual interest. Mallory Bros. and Brooks furnished the music and the different selections were loudly cheered. The program was as follows:

Music—Hand bells—Mallory Bros.

Invocation—Mrs. Eva Munroe.

Vocal solo—Mrs. Gracie Mallory.

Paper—"Woman, Awake"—Mrs. Eliza Baker, Chicago.

Harp solo—Mrs. Mazy Brooks Mallory.

At the close of the program an informal reception was tendered the officers of the federation and other visitors in the church parlors. Light refreshments were served.

Specimens of the handiwork of the Art clubs throughout the state are on exhibition at Mt. Emory church. The display includes many beautiful specimens of art needlework, which are exceedingly beautiful and artistic.

Prominent among the different groups is a large number of handsome designs from the Ladies' Art club, of this city, which has the largest number on exhibition. Mrs. Eugene Hayden is president of this club, which has done excellent work during its four years of existence. Other cities which are represented in this exhibition are: Monmouth, Springfield, Chicago and Aurora. Art club No. 1, of this city, also has several pieces, and the work of children between the ages of 6 and 8 years, for the missions, is also displayed.

This morning the business session, with election of officers, will be held at Mt. Emory church at 9 o'clock. The afternoon meeting will also be held at the same place, and the closing session will be held in the A. M. E. church this evening at 8 o'clock.

A HAPPY YOUNG BRIDE.

One of the happiest young women in town was married only a few months ago, but her troubles began when she tried to think what to get her husband for a birthday present. Fortunately she consulted Armstrong & Armstrong, our popular druggists, and they suggested a box of Wadsworth Bros' "Chicos."

Mr. Younghusband congratulated his wife on her good judgment in selecting cigars, and says he will not smoke anything but "Chicos" in the future, not only because his wife gave them to him, but because they satisfy his fastidious taste exactly, and just meet the needs of his pocketbook.

Wadsworth Bros' "Chicos" are really a 10c cigar for 5c, as they are made with a long Havana filler, are good size, smoke free, and are a real cigar from the first puff clear up to the stub.

Armstrong & Armstrong are the local dealers and want all lovers of good cigars to try the "Chicos."

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Cardinal's Hat.
The cardinal's hat is a game played with any number of persons, who take the names of red cap, blue cap, yellow cap, etc. A player who takes the part of the cardinal accuses one of them of stealing his cap, when the following dialogue ensues:

Player—Not I, sir.
Cardinal—Yes, you, sir.
Player—Not I, sir.
Cardinal—Who then, sir?
Player—Yellow cap, sir.

Giving the assumed name of any player he chooses, who is then in turn accused by the cardinal. If any one name a color not chosen by any player he must pay a forfeit. Sometimes a piece of wood, representing the hat, is actually hidden, and the cardinal tries to find where it is by rapping the fingers of each player with his cane.

A Reindeer Express.

The capacity of the reindeer for team work is remarkable. Its hoofs are very broad and do not penetrate the snow crusts. Its average weight is about 400 pounds. He will swiftly draw a sled carrying 600 pounds and with this load can travel thirty, fifty and even ninety miles a day. The reindeer teams now carry the mails from Kotzebue to Point Barrow, a distance of 650 miles, the most northerly post route in the world. No food is carried for the deer. At the end of his journey or at any stopping place he is turned loose and at once breaks through the snow to the white moss, which serves as food.

Jefferson's Rules of Conduct.

Here are some rules made up by Thomas Jefferson which have seldom been seen in print.

You boys and girls will enjoy reading them:

First—Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.

Second—Never trouble another for what you can do yourself.

Third—Never spend your money before you have it.

Fourth—Never buy what you do not want, because it is cheap. It will be dear to you.

Fifth—Pride costs us more than hunger, thirst and cold.

Sixth—We never repent of having eaten too little.

A Japanese Game.

The children form a line, each resting his hands upon the shoulders of the player in front. One who is the "catcher" remains out. The first player is called the head, the last the tail. The catcher stands fifteen feet from the head and at a given signal tries to catch the "tail" or end player without pushing any one else. Others defend the tail by moving about in any way they choose, except that the line must not be broken. Should it break, the tail is considered caught and must become the catcher while the "catcher" goes to the head of the line.

A Parlor Trick.

Balance a cane on the back of a chair so that the slightest touch sets it to wavering. Then tell your friends that you can make it fall from the chair without touching it in any way or even blowing at it. Although no one will believe you, it is a very simple thing to do. Get a postal card and rub it very briskly on a woolen cloth till it is thoroughly magnetized. Then hold it near one end of the cane, which will slowly turn toward it. By holding the card below this end of the cane you will attract it downward until it overbalances and falls to the floor.

An Alphabet Story.

Each person must write a story in twenty-six words, every word to begin with a different letter of the alphabet in its natural order. For instance:

A brilliant creature discoursed every Friday, giving her interpretations judiciously. Kindly lawyer, Mr. Newton, objected, professing quite rudely some trumpery unbeliefs, varied with (o) xalted yells. Zounds!

This may be varied by using the letters backward from Z to A. For the best or least bad story some humorous taste can be presented.

Riddles.

Why are fish not weighed in their own scales? Answer—Because fish scales are not built that weigh.

What comes with a coach, goes with a coach, is of no use whatever to the coach and yet the coach cannot go without it? Answer—Noise.

Why is an old man like a dog's tail? Answer—Because they are both in firm.

Sparrows "Lick" a Cat.

A big Baltimore cat captured a young sparrow, but before she could eat it about a hundred older sparrows tackled her. The cat ran, pursued by the birds, and finally found shelter in a hotel. She had dropped the young bird in the meantime.

A Butterfly Trainer.

A California woman, Miss Mabel Adams Ayer of San Francisco, has succeeded in training a number of butterflies. Sugar and water are the inducements, and the little winged pets go through quite a few cute performances.

How Many?

Ten fat pigs and nine fluffy hens.
We keep them in coops, we keep them in pens.
Eight sleek cows and seven good goats.
We keep them in the stable to eat hay.

Six little lambs and five white mice.
We keep them in the barn, where it's snug and nice.
Four gray squirrels and three black bun-nies.
We keep them in the shed, where the warm, bright sun is.

Two striped kittens and one pretty pug.
We keep them in the living room to cud-dle and to hug.
—Youth's Companion.

SWIPES.

"Who is Swipes? And yet think it's a queer name? Well, yet see, 'tain't that really. It's Bert Gilman—that's what it reads on the books—and he's Messenger 14 if you want to call him. I'm No. 12."

"We was awful busy, and there wa'n't no one in the office but Swipes and young Nelson when a woman came in with a kid and said she wanted it taken over to the work side and told the number."

"Nelson wanted her to write it, but she said she couldn't 'cause she had her gloves on, so he wrote the address, and Swipes took the kid and started off."

"When he got ter the house a man come ter the door, and Swipes said, 'Here's the kid.'"

"The man looked awfully astonished and asked, 'What kid?'"

"Why, the kid the lady sent," said Swipes.

"Well, it don't belong here, anyway," said the man. "There aren't any children here, and there haven't been for years," and he tried to shut the door.

"Then the kid began to yawl, and Swipes picked it up and marched back ter the office. A gang of us spled him fore he got there, and we did give it ter him."

"He dropped the kid into a chair, and told the boss how they wouldn't take the child and didn't seem ter know nothin' about it."

"Take it back to the woman, then," said he, looking cross.

"Don't know where she lives," answered Swipes. "She had a black veil on, so I didn't see her face, and she did not give my name—and here's the kid, and what shall I do with it?"

"Take care of it somehow. I can't be bothered," and he began ter write, leavin' Swipes with the baby on his hands.

"Well, we tended her all that day and kept a-hopin' the woman would come ter take her back when she found it wa'n't where she sent it, but she didn't come."

"Swipes was a-goin' ter give it baked beans for dinner, but the woman at the bakery said babies had ter have warm milk, so Swipes bought a quart, and we boiled it in a pan over the fire. Then we had ter get a spoon ter feed it with."

"Ned held the pan while Swipes did the feedin', and more'n half of that milk got spilled. He got it all over the kid's dress, and once, when he wa'n't a-potidin', the kid gave a jump and hit the pan and spilled the milk all down Swipes' leg on to the floor."

"When night came the boss said we'd better take the baby ter some 'sylum, but we kinder 'greeted between ourselves we'd better keep it another day 'fore packin' it off, so Swipes toted it home with a newspaper around it as folks wouldn't guess what he'd got."

"Him and me bunk together, and we didn't exactly know what we was a-goin' ter do with that baby, 'cause if we put it in the bed 'twould roll out and get hurt, and there wa'n't nothin' at all that would do for a cradle such as Swipes said she ought ter have."

"So Swipes he went down stairs and borrowed a great big wash boiler of Mrs. Murphy, but he didn't tell her what he wanted it for, 'cause he didn't want ter get laughed at too much."

"Well, sir, we jammed a pillar inter the bottom of that boiler, and then we laid the kid in, and she was snig as could be. And we covered her up with a couple of towels and a pillowcase. The towels was pretty dirty, but the baby was dirty, too, so it didn't matter much."

"Then we took a rope and strung it through the handles and nailed the ends into the walls, so the boiler swung fine as could be, and we took turns littin' it till the kid dropped off ter sleep."

"We slept good, but woke up by the kid's yellin'. We gave it some warm milk, and then Swipes said he guessed we'd better wash its face. Didn't neither of us want ter, so we tossed copper, and he had ter."

"Swipes took his handkerchief and kinder made a dab at the kid's face, but the dirt stuck on, so finally he just had ter scrub. Of course the kid yelled, and Swipes made me knock over chairs so the folks wouldn't hear. Then his face wasn't clean neither, for there was streaks all over it."

"Then we had ter go ter the office, and we hugged the kid there and made the other fellows read it while Swipes went on an errand."

"Bum, by he come rushin' in and whispered ter me ter come on, and then he took the kid and we went off. He wouldn't say nothin' about what he was a-goin' ter do with it, but pretty soon he turned into a house."

"There was a piece of striped ter the doorknob, and as we stood there an undertaker drove up."

"Pretty soon a pale lady came, all dressed in black, and Swipes he didn't say nothin', but just put the baby in her arms."

"Then the woman began ter cry, and she hugged the baby and kissed it, and Swipes whispered ter me how her own baby had died the day before."

"Then Swipes told the lady how the kid had been left at the office, and the woman hadn't come for it or anything, and he guessed she must be dead, 'cause one woman did get killed by the cars that day."

"Did they send the baby back? Well, no. They think heaps of it, and Swipes and me goes ter see it sometimes, and I guess it knows us."

"Twas funny business all around, but do you know, I think 'twas awful smart of Swipes the way he got rid of the kid."

"Swipes thinks so too."—Harriet Carley Cox in Boston Globe.

Asking For a Girl

(Original.)

During the summer Bertram Hall met Claribel Schofield in the mountains and they became engaged. When Bertram's vacation was finished he left his fiancée and went to the city, where he was to find her father and ask his consent to their marriage. Mr. Schofield lived at Glenwood, a suburban village, alone while his family were in the country, and Bertram preferred to go there to see him rather than at his office in the city. He concluded to go out after business hours and return for dinner. A train left the station at 5 o'clock by which he could reach Glenwood at 5:30, get the order off his mind and return in time to dine at his club with friends at 7.

The route was entirely new to him, and he asked a gentleman on the train, sitting next to him if he would kindly notify him when the train reached Glenwood.

"I get out there, or rather, at East Glenwood," said the man. "Your station is the next beyond."

"Can you direct me to the residence of Harris B. Schofield?" asked Bertram.

"Certainly. I know him very well," and he gave the desired information.

Since the gentleman knew Mr. Schofield, Bertram concluded to find out what sort of a man he was.

"I've never met the gentleman," said Bertram, "but I hear he is a very pleasant man."

"Him," drawled the gentleman, "pleasant enough if you don't antagonize him."

"Straight faced or a man of the world?"

"Well, if I wanted to ingratiate myself with him I wouldn't mention wines, liquors, cigars and such things."

"In that case I'm in luck," remarked Bertram. "I thought I'd go out in the smoking car, but concluded I would not."

"Right you are. Old Schofield would want you to hang yourself up to all before going into his presence after smoking."

"Glad I made an engagement to dine at my club with some chums."

The trainman threw open the door and cried, "East Glenwood!" and the gentleman arose.

"Good evening," he said. "I wish your thick in getting away from Schofield to dine with pleasant company."

Half an hour later Bertram reached the house he sought and sent up his card. The butler was gone a long while, and when he returned bore on a tray an amber-hued fluid in a wineglass.

"Mr. Schofield's compliments. He's dressing for dinner and says you might like a cocktail while you're waiting."

It occurred to Bertram that either he had got into the wrong house or his prospective father-in-law was trying to test him.

"Thanks," he said; "I never drink."

The butler set the glass down without further remark. Bertram let it stand untouched. Mr. Schofield was very long in dressing, and Bertram became impatient. He looked at his watch every five minutes and at last saw that he had but ten minutes for the ordeal and ten more to catch a train to get him back to the city in time for dinner. Tapping an electric bell, he summoned the butler and asked him to say that his time was limited. The butler after a protracted absence returned with another cocktail and an apology from the host for keeping him waiting.

Bertram was now sure that he had got into the wrong house. But inquiries made of the butler only went to prove that he had not. Then he was sure he was being put to a test. He was getting angry.

"Please tell Mr. Schofield," he said sharply, "that I have an engagement to dine with my minister in the city at 7 and beg that he will give me five minutes at once."

A reply to this was shouted over the baluster. "Tell him the minister can wait. Put a bottle of champagne on ice!"

"Butler," said Bertram, perplexed, "will you kindly inform Mr. Schofield—Mr. Harris B. Schofield—that I have come to see him on a matter of importance to myself and a member of his family. Let him assure me that I'm not in the wrong house and I will try to wait patiently."

Again the answer came over the baluster, this time mingled with other matters.

"Martin, what have you been doing with my shaving brush, and where are the towels?" then an interval followed by, "Oh, tell him to be gone if he's in a hurry."

Bertram threw himself on a sofa, and in due time the odor of a cigarette preceded footsteps on the stairs, and a gentleman entered. Bertram was disappointed. He was the man he had met on the train. He wore a very cheerful smile and, marching up to Bertram, gave his hand a cordial shake.

"Pardon my rust," he said. "The temptation was beyond resistance. I knew you must be Bertram Hall, and I got out purposely at the lower station, reaching the house just before you. And now I trust you will yield this once on this important occasion and drink one of these beverages while I drink the other."

Bertram tossed off the beverage with a blessed relief.

"I respect the cloth," continued Mr. Schofield, "but for today your minister must excuse you."

Bertram blushed, smiled and said that the men at his club certainly wouldn't excuse him. But he was shown to a telephone, whereby he informed his friends that he would not show up for dinner.

That night he wrote his fiancée that he had met her father and the formalities had been gone through with satisfactorily.

Hook 'Em, Sniffey.

"Hook 'em, Sniffey" is a game played by any number of persons with a ring at the end of a long cord tied to the limb of a tree. A hook is driven into the tree, and the players in order try to swing the ring so that it will catch on the hook. He who succeeds scores a point. Instead of a tree an upright post with a crossbar is often used. Sometimes, instead of one hook, a board is arranged with several hooks, each of which has a number under it. In this case the successful player scores the number of the hook on which he hangs the ring. After any number of turns agreed on, he who has scored the highest number of points wins.

The Virginia Reel.

Have you ever danced a Virginia reel? If you haven't you surely will some day, and it is interesting to know what the dance symbolizes or stands for.

It is an imitation of weaving. The first movement represents the shooting of the shuttle from side to side and the passage of the wool (crosswise threads) over and under the warps (lengthwise threads). The last movements indicate the tightening of the threads and the bringing together of the cloth. In some places the boys and girls stand in the row by sevens to imitate the different colors of the strands.

The Hungry Eskimos.

The Eskimos have enormous appetites. An arctic explorer relates that he saw a boy eat ten pounds of solid food and drink a gallon and a half of liquid with much gusto. This same explorer observed an adult eat ten pounds of meat and two candles at a meal and tells how a boy of seventeen years ate twenty-four pounds of beef in twenty-four hours. It's a good thing American boys haven't such appetites, for just think of the butcher's bill.

The Sioux Doll.

The Sioux doll is made of chamois and deerskin. The curious thing about it is that it is perfectly flat. To judge from this one might think that the Sioux babies were systematically starved. This is not the case, for they are as round and fat and jolly as any children you ever saw.

CHOKING CATARRH CURED.

Mr. Caswell Says, "Hyomei Cured Me"—Your Money Back If It Does Not Cure You.

"Use Hyomei and be cured of catarrh," is what all who have tried it for that disease say to their friends.

O. S. Caswell, of North Middleboro, Mass., writes: "Hyomei has relieved me from a choking catarrhal trouble and cleared my head. I am glad to recommend it to my friends."

It is the easiest thing in the world to stop catarrh or catarrhal cold at its beginning if you use Hyomei. Just breathe the health-giving balsamic air for a few minutes and your catarrh will be cured. In the worst cases of this disease, chronic or acute, Hyomei used four or five times a day is all that is needed to soon effect a cure.

In this and neighboring towns, there are hundreds that can testify to the remarkable powers of Hyomei to cure catarrh. Many of the staunchest friends of this remedy began its use with little hope that they would be cured, but as Hatch offered to refund the money if it did not benefit, they decided to try it on that plan, and were soon restored to health.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, and if one bottle does not cure, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents.

MATRIMONIAL

RULE-MATHEWS.

Miss Robertine B. Mathews, daughter of Mrs. James R. Mathews, became the bride of Mr. John M. Rule at a pretty home wedding solemnized at the residence of the bride's mother, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. The wedding arrangements were very simple and only the immediate friends of the two families witnessed the ceremony, which was beautifully and impressively said by Dr. Franklin M. Rule, of Winona, Minn., father of the groom.

The ring service was used and after the words of hearty congratulation and well wishes had been spoken an elegant wedding breakfast was served.

The Mathews home was beautifully decorated for the wedding and yet simplicity characterized the entire arrangement. The east parlor, where the ceremony took place, was in red, white and the prevailing color effect. Dahlias, roses, carnations and cosmos in great profusion contributed their charm to the scene, which was indeed one of richness and artistic beauty.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. James R. Mathews, of 1011 West College avenue, and is a young lady of refinement and culture. She was a student at the Jacksonville Female academy and also of the Illinois Conservatory of Music, and her musical attainments are quite marked. Her pleasant manner and many graces of character have endeared her to a large number of friends, who will unite in wishing her every happiness.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Rule, of Winona, Minn., and until a year ago was a resident of this city. While at Mr.

Rule held the position of night clerk at the Dunlap hotel, and through his genial manner, strength of character and generous disposition gained a host of friends. He was a charter member of Jacksonville lodge No. 682, B. P. O. E., and was prominently identified with the organization. He is now employed as clerk of the Livingston hotel in Grand Rapids, Mich., and holds a position of trust and responsibility.

Mr. and Mrs. Rule departed on the 10:30 train for Grand Rapids, where they will be at home to their friends. The many handsome gifts attested the personal esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their many friends. A huge bouquet of roses was received from the local lodge of Elks.

Those present at the wedding from a distance were: Dr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Rule, parents of the groom, and Miss Lulu Rule, a sister, from Winona, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Mathews, of Joplin, Mo.; Newton Mathews and Miss Josephine McKevitt, of Chicago.

HOPPER-BRIGGS.

Thomas Hopper, of this city, and Miss Alice Briggs, of Pasadena, Cal., were united in marriage at the home of the brother of the bride in Minneapolis, Minn., Wednesday morning. It was a quiet home wedding and the guest list was limited to the immediate friends of the two families. Miss Lena Hopper and Miss May Hopper, of this city, were present at the wedding.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Briggs and is well known here, where she graduated from the Woman's college in both the academic and musical departments. She finished her musical course last year. She is a young lady of many graces and charms of character and in addition to her literary and musical attainments enjoys a personal popularity that is enviable.

Mr. Hopper is a son of Chas. Hopper, of this city, is a member of the firm of Hopper & Son, splendid character and business ability. He is a graduate of the high school and Illinois college in the class of 1901. He is also a member of the I. O. O. F. of this city and stands well in the business and social circles of Jacksonville, where he has many warm personal friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopper are expected to arrive in the city to day and will be at home to their friends in a new residence which is now being erected on Jordan street.

HOLSCHER-RHEA.

Wallace F. Holscher, of Mercedosa, and Miss Edith Myrtle Rhea, of Beardsdown, were united in marriage Wednesday morning at the office of Attorney Harry M. Tieknor. Squire Albert Arenz performed the ceremony in his usual elegant and impressive manner. Both young people are well and favorably known in the communities where they reside and will have the best wishes of a large number of friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

ROGERS-DARLAND.

Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harris was solemnized the wedding of Miss Minnie L. Darland to Mr. Frank Rogers, Rev. C. E. French, of Berea, officiating. The bride was handsomely gowned in a blue Sicilian traveling suit.

The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion in blue and white, and presented a beautiful appearance.

After the ceremony the guests partook of a luncheon and the happy couple left for St. Louis to spend a few days at the fair.

PROGRAM OF THE DAY.

The morning and afternoon will be devoted to general good fellowship. To night at 7:30 o'clock the parade will move from the court house. It promises to be one of the finest parades ever made in this city, and practically everybody will be out to see the fun.

The queen will be crowned and the maids officially honored by Mayor Davis, who will serve in the role of master of ceremonies.

THE PUBLIC WEDDING.
At 10 o'clock to night, also in the wild animal show tent, another event of sensational interest will be presented in the public wedding of William Emons and Miss Ruby Hestlie, both of Springfield.

At that hour the bridal couple will be united in marriage inside of the big steel caged arena. While the nuptial knot is being tied six of Colonel Mundy's largest and most intelligent lions will be present as witnesses to the unique event. While it is probable that nothing of a serious nature will occur during the ceremony, so far as any misbehavior on the part of the lions is concerned, still the possibility of accident is always present.

To night's wedding among the lions in the wild animal show will be the thirteenth event of similar character held amidst the unusual surroundings with the great Mundy shows this season. It will take place at 10 o'clock.

The L. O. T. M., No. 140, will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in their hall. No meeting this evening, as previously announced. Tillie Smith, Lady Commander.

The Whipple academy foot ball team and an eleven from the Business college played a game on the college campus Wednesday afternoon. The Whipple team proved the victors and scored a touchdown in each half, Kirby kicking goal each time.

A fair sized crowd witnessed the game and the sensational feature of the contest was the sixty yard run of Williams. The Business college team was not in condition for a hard game and halves were for a hard game and the halves were limited to fifteen minutes. The line-up was as follows:

CLASS BANQUET

Sophomores of Illinois College Dine at the Colonial Inn.

The sophomore class of Illinois college held their annual and time-honored feast Wednesday evening at the Colonial Inn. This event formed the formal opening of the Inn under the new management. All the members were present and partook of a sumptuous menu served in artistic style. The table decorations were elaborate and the menu cards were of unique design, printed in the class colors. The sophomores captured a freshman with whom to amuse themselves. He finally made his escape and gathered a band of his comrades, but they arrived too late to interfere and contented themselves with a few yells.

At 6:30 the class sat down to the following splendid banquet:

Bouillon.
Olives. Celery. Spiced Pickles.
Young Chicken. Cream Gravy.
Sweet Peas en cacc.
French Fried Potatoes.
Sophomore Punch.
Escaloped Oysters.
Tutti-frutti Ice Cream. Assorted Cake.
Bon Bons. Salted Almonds.
Coffee.

After the members' had satisfied their appetites to the fullest extent, a flash light photograph of the banquet was taken and the following toasts were eloquently responded to amid great enthusiasm. Prof. J. Griffith Ames acted as toastmaster.

'07 and Her Future—P. J. Kennedy.
'07 Girls—Carrie Sprecher.
'07 in Her Freshman Year—R. O. Post, Jr.

'07 in Athletics—William Harmon.
The First Girl Color Rush—Marie Clemmons.

A Toast to the Captured Colors—F. S. McKinney.
The toasts concluded, the toast master called on various members of the class, who voiced their sentiments of loyalty and patriotism in a spirited manner.

AT THE GRAND.

The James Kennedy company appeared at the Grand last evening, for the first time in this city, in "Chuckie Corners, the Bowers Boy," a melodrama in four acts. The company is a strong one in many particulars and the presentation last evening was deserving of a better audience. It was larger, however, than had been expected under the circumstances, and the manager of the company expressed himself as being well pleased. The specialties between the acts were well received, the different features being loudly applauded.

The James Kennedy company will be here the remainder of the week in repertoire and promise a good bill every night and matinee Saturday.
